Mrs. Jonas made an appointment at a hair salon. What would you say if you wanted to make an appointment at a salon? Nick went to the appointment with her. The people liked hearing Nick sing while he waited for his mom.

At a salon, the hair stylist talks to the client about hair styles. Sometimes people look at pictures to find the style or color they want. Where could you get ideas for how you want your hair cut? How would you like your hair cut?

Then, the hair stylist washes the client's hair. First the client's hair is washed with shampoo and rinsed. Then conditioner is worked into the hair and rinsed. What kind of shampoo do you use? How often should you wash your hair?

Then the hair stylist combs the client's hair. Starting to comb hair at the bottom gets tangles out without hurting. Why do people brush or comb their hair? Do you brush your hair?

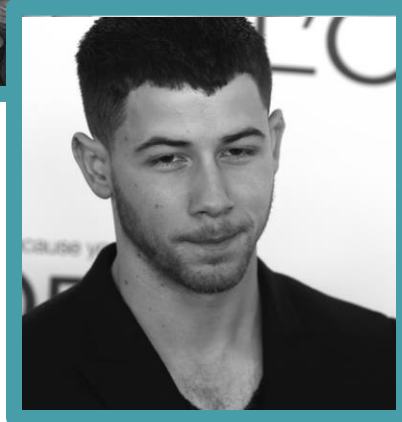

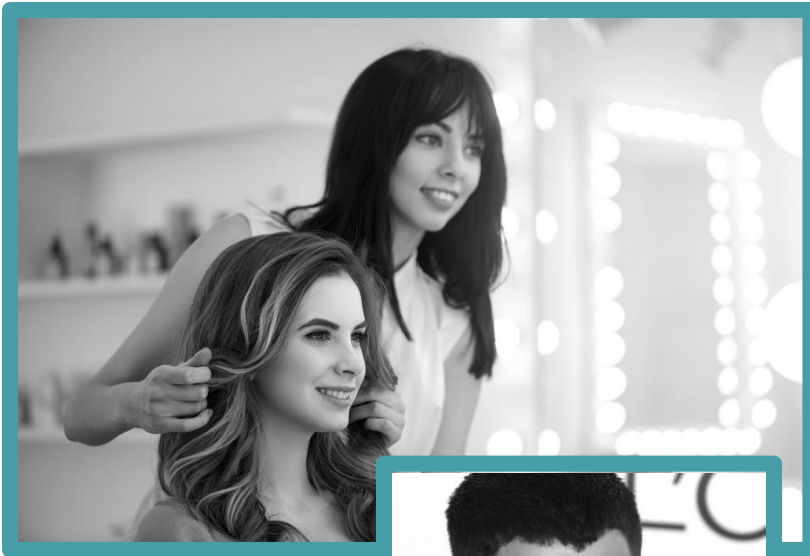

Then the hair stylist starts to cut client's hair. Hair stylists know how to cut people's hair. There are many types of haircuts. Some people want short hair. Do you like getting your hair cut?

Some people like long hair. Who do you know who has long hair? Do you like to curl your hair? Where do you part your hair?

Hair stylists can also color people's hair. People can get their hair colored black, brown, red or blond. Do you know anyone who colors their hair?

Some people like to use unusual colors like pink, blue or green! Have you ever seen someone who has hair with these colors?
